Dear Hiring Manager,

I am excited to apply for the Senior Video Editor & Videographer position at AMD. Throughout more than 30 years in corporate communications, broadcast television, agency production, and commercial marketing, I have built a career creating high-impact visual content that helps organizations communicate complex ideas with clarity and purpose. Whether producing executive communications, leading multi-camera live productions, or developing brand storytelling campaigns, I have consistently delivered content that supports strategic business objectives while engaging diverse audiences.

What attracts me to AMD is more than the opportunity to create exceptional content—it is the company's reputation for engineering excellence, disciplined execution, and relentless innovation. As someone who has built custom computers for more than two decades and has followed AMD's remarkable transformation into a leader in high-performance computing and AI, I am excited by the opportunity to help tell the stories behind the technologies shaping the future. Throughout my career, I have embraced emerging technologies to improve production quality and efficiency, from integrating AI workflows and virtual production techniques to implementing drone technology and incorporating aerial cinematography into commercial productions in 2013… before the FAA created the Part 107 Remote Pilot certification in 2016. I am highly proficient in DaVinci Resolve, Adobe Creative Cloud, Lightwave 3D, and a wide range of production software, technologies and equipment.

Beyond technical expertise, I bring extensive leadership experience. I have managed creative teams, supervised production crews, collaborated with executives and stakeholders, directed vendors, and successfully operated my own multimedia production company. Those experiences strengthened my ability to balance creativity with business priorities, manage competing deadlines, control budgets, and consistently deliver polished, professional work under pressure. I understand that outstanding creative work is built on communication, collaboration, preparation, and execution.

I am particularly excited by the opportunity to partner with AMD's creative leadership and cross-functional teams to produce compelling content for product launches, executive communications, global events, and internal initiatives; all verticals I am very familiar with. My ability to translate complex technical concepts into engaging visual stories, combined with decades of production leadership, positions me to contribute immediately to your organization. I would welcome the opportunity to help communicate AMD's vision while supporting the company's continued leadership in AI, adaptive computing, and next-generation technology.

Thank you for your time and consideration. I look forward to the opportunity to discuss how my experience, leadership, and passion for technology can contribute to AMD's continued success.

Sincerely,

John Carr
