Notes for Notes Hiring Team
New Braunfels Studio

Re: Youth Music Studio Producer

Dear Notes for Notes Hiring Team,

I am writing to apply for the Producer position at your New Braunfels studio. I have played guitar and piano since the mid-1980s, I studied music at McNeese State University, and I have spent 33 years producing audio and video for broadcast and live events. I have also worked regularly with youth and children while employed with Capital Technologies/Music Doing Good.

At Music Doing Good, a501c3 non-profit; we brought organized on-stage musical production to the youth in at-risk schools through Music Doing Good in Schools. Through MDG in Schools they learned music production and recording, acting and stage production, plus life lessons all accumulated into a Musical Theater Presentation for the community. Purple Songs Can Fly is a music studio located in the cancer ward at Texas Children's Medical Hospital in the Houston Medical Center. The founder Anita Cruise brings children into the studio from the waiting room, and teaches them how to write and record their own songs. This group also writes a play to perform during the Christmas Season for friends and loved ones. Samples of this work can be found in my portfolio at this link. Portfolio

The production side of the job is very familiar to me. I have recorded multi-track music, mixed it, and paired it with video for Music Doing Good as well as run front of house live sound for the performances at the same time. I have produced live streams, and I have made band music videos from multi-tracking and shooting their live gigs. Not to mention performing in my own bands over the years. That is close to what your Producers do when they help students build EPKs and portfolios, and I can show students how a performance turns into something they can share. My portfolio at portfolio.legaisee.com has examples.

My background is in broadcast television, audio, video and graphics production, and marketing. I also ran my own part-time production company for decades as a side gig as well as leaned on it full time during harder times like the covid era. As such, I know the full business pipeline from prospecting clients all the way through deliverables and repeat business, including content strategy and marketing. I've used many tools over the years…Pro Tools, Ableton, Logic, Studio One, Adobe, Davinci…this list gets long quick. And obviously im a gear freak. 🙂 I've even done my share of DJ'ing using PCDJ DEX3 and a controller.

I am a recent transplant to New Braunfels from Galveston, hence the current job search. Being a lifelong lover and performer of music, I would welcome the chance to visit the studio and meet the staff and students. I have completed the N4N employment application and attached it with my resume. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

John Carr
